

ARCHIPANELS LAB

You provide the design and we bring your ideas into reality.

We assess your design, we create prototypes, we conduct tests, we provide a quote and, once a proposal is approved, we industrialise it with the option of even including it in our catalogue under a designer contract.

WHAT WE DO

We work closely with architects, interior designers and visionary clients to create panels and other custom architectural solutions that reflect their identity and commitment to sustainability.

Our engineering team transforms your ideas into reality. From the very first sketch to advice on installation, we work hand-in-hand with you to understand the specific requirements and breathe life into the most ambitious concepts.

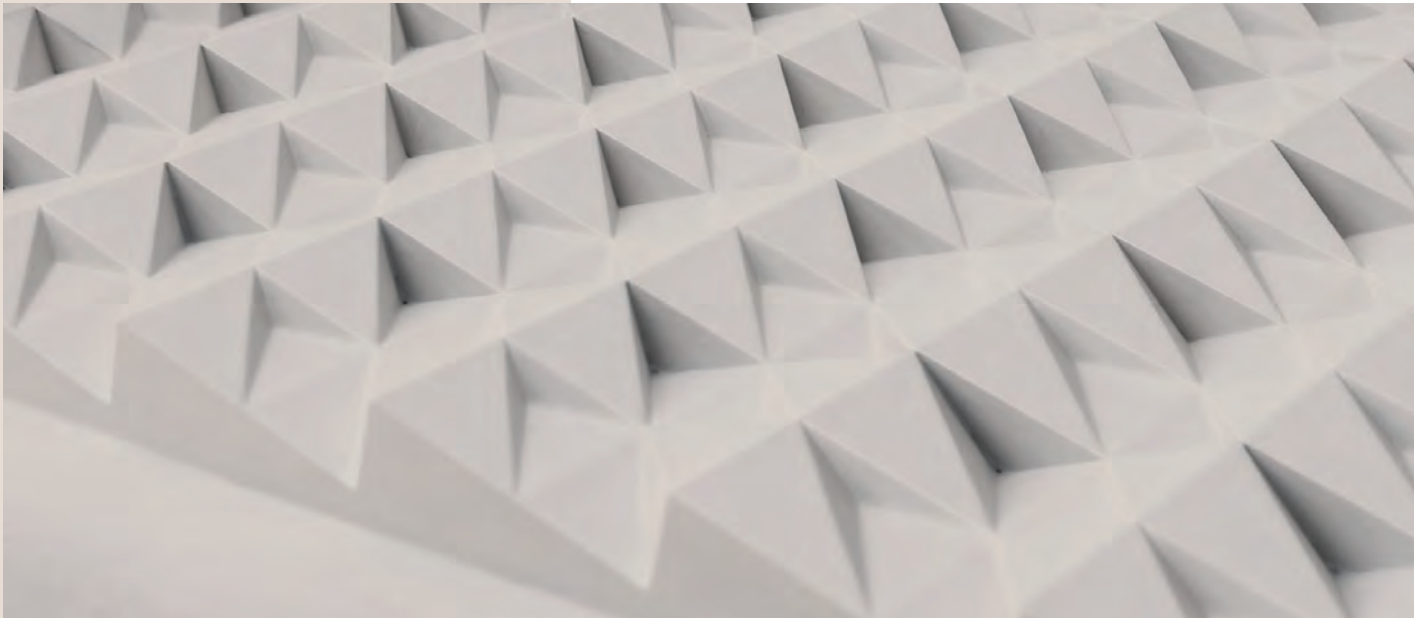

We use reliably traceable recycled materials to guarantee not only the durability and strength of our products but also their positive environmental impact.

CUSTOM
SOLUTIONS

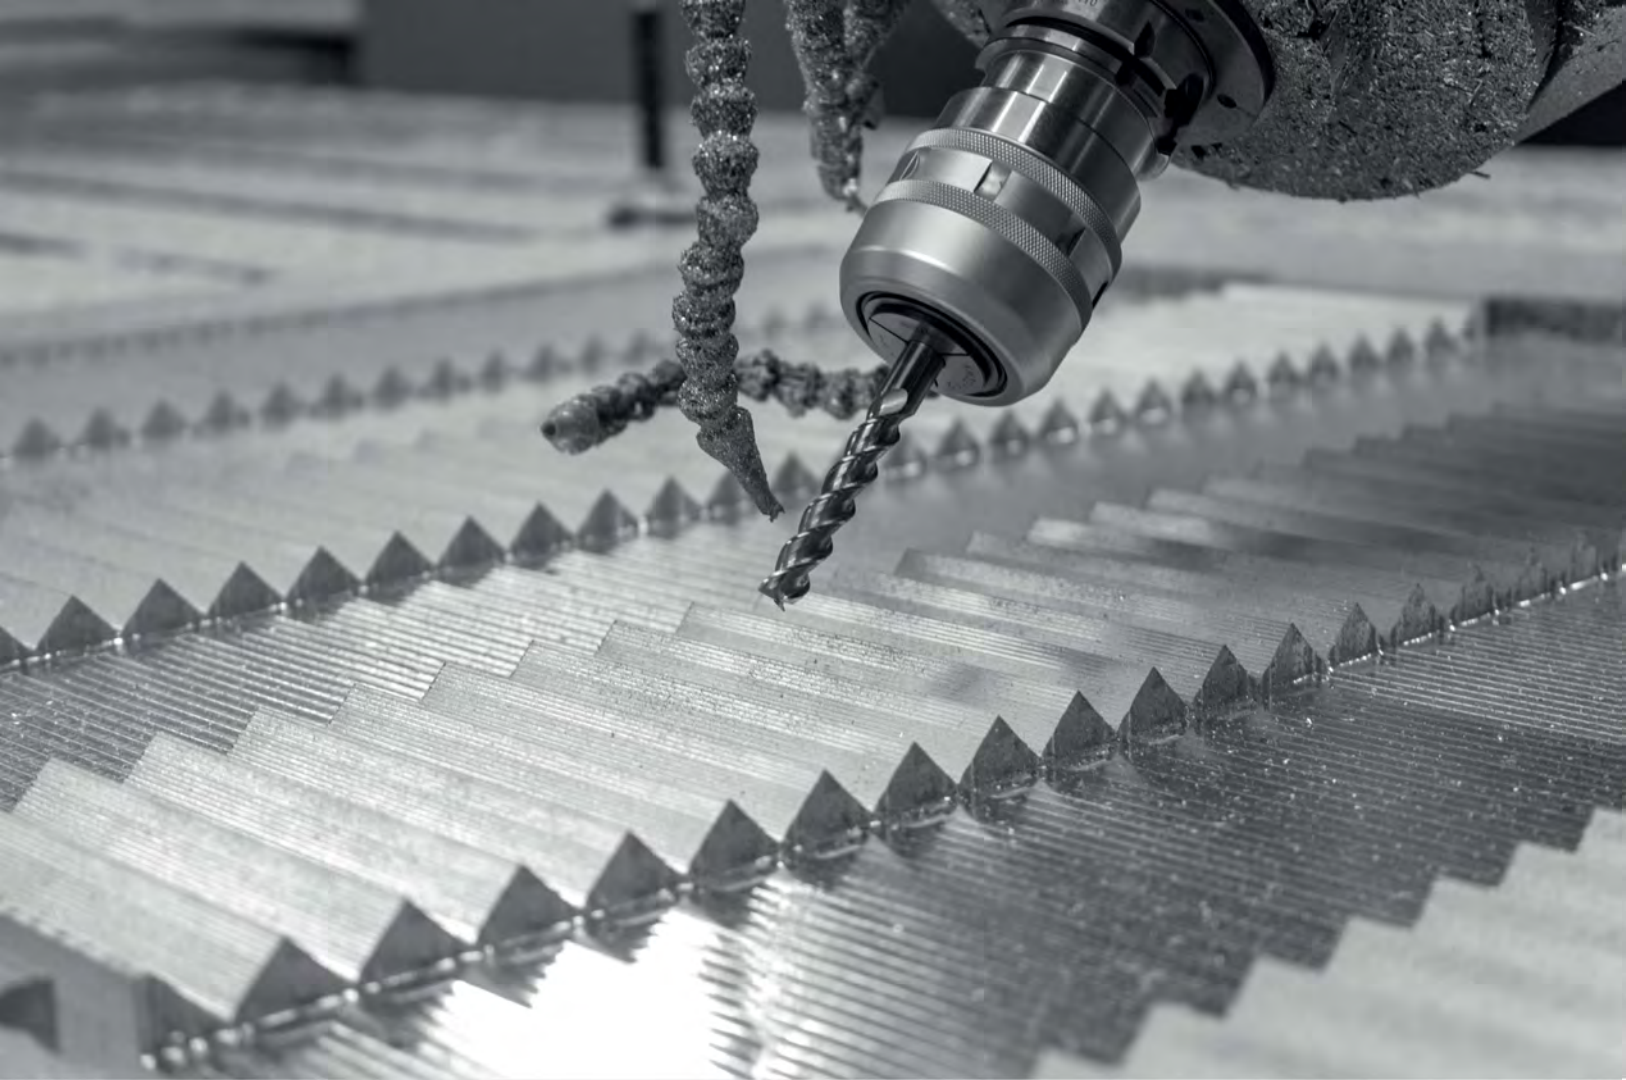

*Our engineering team

OUR BACKGROUND

After more than 30 years leading the field in framework engineering and manufacture for the railway industry, aircraft simulators, street furniture and other one-off projects, we have become an international benchmark in the manufacturing of architectural cladding based on next-gen technical materials with a commitment to creating eco-friendly solutions for cutting-edge constructions.

At Archipanel LAB, we understand that every architecture project is unique in the same way that the needs and visions of our clients are never the same. We are therefore proud to present our division that specialises in custom solutions.

We are committed to excellence in manufacturing, sustainability and client satisfaction. If you are looking for customised architectural solutions that reflect your vision and meet your specific needs, Archipanel LAB is the architecture partner for you.

Get in touch with us to start giving shape to your custom project with next-gen recycled materials. Together, we can create a unique and sustainable project that will make your architecture project iconic.
